

Join us for our 'Understanding the Polymer Supply Chain' Conference

Course overview

The conference seeks to help delegates understand the complexity of the polymer supply chain and the key factors that affect changes in polymer supply and pricing.

By examining the long and short term influencing factors on the polymer supply chain delegates should be better equipped to make positive strategic decisions on behalf of their business.

The conference will be presented by members of the Plastibution team, supported by presentations by representatives of key European polymer producers.

Conference Content

- An introduction to the Polymer Supply Chain
- How economics can help us understand the polymer industry
- Brexit and what the future holds for the UK polymer Industry
- Polymer economics
- Essential monomer building blocks
- Engineering and commodity polymers - current market status
- Supply chain management
- Green polymers and feedstocks - questions on sustainability

Delegates

The conference is ideal for individuals in senior purchasing roles and those who are making strategic decisions on behalf of their businesses.
